Whittingham owns, trains Derby winner

For the second time in four years, Charlie Whittingham, Sierra Madre horse trainer, won the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs. This time the horse he trained and was winner was Sunday Silence that came in 2½ lengths ahead of the second fastest horse, Easy Goer.

The jockey was Pat Valenzuela.

Whittingham won the Derby four years ago with Ferdinand.

Whittingham became the oldest trainer to win the Derby in 1986 and now, at 76, he still holds the record of the oldest trainer.

Sunday Silence earned $574,200 of the $749,200 purse for his owners, Kentucky breeder Arthur Hancock, Whittingham, and Ernest Gaillard, a retired surgeon from La Jolla.

Hancock sold half of the horse to Whittingham for $25,000 and later Whittingham sold half of his half, or a quarter, to Gaillard.

WHITTINGHAM WINS KENTUCKY DERBY — Charlie Whittingham, Sierra Madre, is second time winner of the Kentucky Derby. He was the trainer of Sunday Silence, the horse that won Saturday's race 2½ lengths ahead of the next closest horse in the race.

PUSD board to communicate with Sierra Madre

The Pasadena Unified School District Board Tuesday evening approved by majority vote that a letter of support be sent to the parents of all Sierra Madre Elementary School students as well as the community in general.

The letter would support the school staff and suggest that the community visit the school to see first-hand what is happening in the local elementary school.

An opportunity for that visit will be an open house slated for Thursday, May 25, from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Elbie Hickambottom cast the lone vote against sending the support letter. He indicated that he was not so much opposed to the content of the letter but he noted the board had not voted for Sierra Madre's secession from the Pasadena Unified School District.

Clean-up day May 13

Sierra Madreans will have a chance to "dump their trash" on Saturday, May 13. Annual Clean-Up Day is scheduled then in cooperation with Western Waste Industries and the city.

The program is free of charge and is for Sierra Madre residents only. Location for delivering trash is the city yards on E. Sierra Madre Blvd.

No liquids can be desposited.

Kids, want to carry Fourth of July banner?

The Fourth of July Committee is looking for four children to carry the banner in front of the Fourth of July Parade. The children must be 12 years or older and bona fide residents of Sierra Madre. The winners, in addition to leading the parade, will receive an official 1989 Fourth of July T-shirt to wear while carrying the banner.

Sign up at the Sierra Madre News office. Please give you name, age, telephone number and address on the form they will give you. Entries must be in by 5 p.m. on June 14 as names will be drawn on June 15.

City Council turns down Martins' tentative parcel map

Councilman Andrew Roy Buchan made the motion to deny the tentative parcel map as submitted by Lawson and Annette Martin for four homes to be built above the Chantry Gate on Santa Anita Canyon Drive. As his reason he said the site was "unsuitable for development" and he also noted that the site was not physically suitable for the proposed density of development, at Tuesday's City Council meeting.

This motion, seconded and received and receiving a unanimous vote, came after about two hours of discussion at the continued public hearing.

Councilmembers spoke of their reasons: traffic and fire suppression problems and a question of moving of the Chantry gate.

But the public came up with more questions than those, for instance the soil analysis and how cutting up the side of the mountain might be a detriment to homes below. They talked about debris basins, possible building of reservoirs, soil samples, and municipal law.

Paul Wilson talked about the "blind curve" proposed that has a frontage of 180 feet. An auto going 35 mph travels 51½ feet per second, allowing three seconds to come to a stop, he said. The curve is "Completely blind, very dangerous."

Steve Broyles talked of traffic and fire safety and stated "None of this information appears in this document (E.I.R. — the Environmental Impact Report)."

Randall Taylor noted that at Jet Propulsion Laboratory scientists address a problem with the question, "What can go wrong and how bad could it be?" He pointed to the traffic problem, serious risks the community faces, "houses falling down the hillside."

Maurer proposed discussion on foothills conservancy

A proposal to investigate the possibility of submitting a request to the state legislature to establish a public conservancy which could acquire private lands in the hillsides of Sierra Madre was brought to the City Council Tuesday night by Mayor Pro Tem George Maurer.

The proposal was based on information given The News regarding a Coachella Valley Mountains Conservancy, similar to the Santa Monica Mountains Conservancy, which passed the State Senate and is currently in the process of proceeding from committee approval to consideration by the State Assembly.

Assemblyman Richard Mountjoy told The News that if the city petitions for a conservancy he would certainly support it. He stated that the Coachella Mountains Conservancy bill is probably a year from final approval and a Sierra Madre Conservancy could be added as an addendum, if the action is expedited.

He further stated, "I would vote for it. I have voted for other conservancies and I would be happy to work with the city on it."

"The first step," he said, "would be to secure the approval of enough of the owners of private lands in the hillsides to make a conservancy viable. If enough would be willing to go along, then the city would request the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors to pass a resolution requesting the state legislature to establish the conservancy."

Town receives $50,000 grant for improving park, trail

Sierra Madre has been awarded a $50,000 grant for reconstruction and improvement of Bailey Canyon Park and the Jones Peak Trail from California Wildlife, Coastal and Park Land Conservation 1988 Bond Act monies.

While the official letter of confrontation has not yet been received, a representative of the California State Department of Parks & Recreation has confirmed the award by phone.

The trail improvements will connect the Jones Peak Trail with Mount Wilson Trail near Orchard Camp and will include reconstruction of the old portions of the trail which suffered extensive erosion and damage following the 1978 fire.

Bailey Canyon, as the trail head, will benefit from improvements which will include Live Oak and Canyon View Nature Trail improvements, an observations deck and study center, assembly area, reconstruction of flood damaged stream bed and construction of a 40-foot wooden access bridge, trail entrance improvement, handicapped parking and access, new signage and portable restrooms.

The Jones Peak Trail project will complete an effort initially begun in the late 1960s. It will provide a loop trail, starting at the base of Mount Wilson Trail and ending at Bailey Canyon, or vice versa.

Mount Wilson Trail has an annual visitor day use of close to 22,000 hikers and it is expected that many of these will take advantage of the new loop which traverses sections of the incomparable Sierra Madre Wilderness Area of over 1100 acres set aside in perpetuity in 1968.

Bailey Canyon use has been estimated at some 7000 annual visitors, including hikers, picnickers, overnight campers and nature tour participants. The new improvements are expected to increase the usage dramatically.

The trail also includes two historic miner's cabins, a 30-foot water fall, an unparalelled overview of the San Gabriel Valley Basin and a spectacular example of a classic earthquake fault line which has carved deep V's in at least five consecutive knife-edged ridges situated just above the currently developed areas of the city.

The chairman of the Sierra Madre Environmental Action Committee's (SMEAC) Nature Awareness Program reported that the '87 quake opened a new V some 40 feet wide and 20 feet deep which can be viewed from the trail.

The project will prove increased safety both in the canyon and on the higher trail and access to nature trails within the canyon for the less active and handicapped individuals wishing to experience the wilderness and habitat of the San Gabriel Mountains.

The project will afford access not only to the park, Jones Peak, the Sierra Madre Wilderness Area and Mount Wilson Trail, but to the entire Angeles National Forest via various connecting trails.

The city's grant application, submitted last November, had the support of various city volunteer groups who have been active in promoting the conservation of Sierra Madre's trails and natural areas, including SMEAC which maintains the Bailey Canyon nature trails system and conducts an annual

Heart of town

By Martyn Hooper
State director, National Federation of Independent Business

How often over the years have we all gone through the sad experience of seeing our favorite neighborhood shop close, only to be replaced by a superstore with unsmiling clerks, super lines and super parking problems? As the song goes, we don't know what we've got 'til it's gone.

During National Small Business Week, May 7 - 13, perhaps this is a good time to contemplate the important role small business plays in our lives.

The nation's 19 million small businesses — more than 2.5 million in California alone — are where America's entrepreneurial spirit was born and where it continues to thrive.

A rich nugget of the American dream is wrapped up in the notion that, with hard work and ambition, anyone can own his or her own business. Be his own boss. Build a better mouse trap.

But small business owners today find themselves in particularly precarious and paradoxical circumstances. They represent one of the most overlooked and misunderstood segments of our economy.

Battered by competition from powerful chains on the retail side and a flood of cheap foreign imported goods on the manufacturing side, many small businesses find it hard just to stay afloat.

Yet, somehow small business owners perservere, staying a step ahead of the competition by providing better service, better merchandising or better products.

Small business plays a special part in the community and in our culture.

Let's not forget that Hewlett-Packard and McDonnel Douglas began life as small business, not large corporations.

Under the Pepper Tree

by Jan Reed

● Barbara Naud of Barbara's Interiors in Sierra Madre has moved her office and home to Dana Point where she has opened a new office. She had been in Sierra Madre for nine years and had lived in the same home nearby for 18 years.

"It's been a difficult move," she told The News. "But there are so many opportunities here."

She and a woman friend have formed a partnership as builder/decorator and she grinned when she said, "This area is really booming and they need my help."

We'll surely miss you, Barbara. You've been a real plus to our community.

● Let this part of the Pepper Tree be a salute to all mothers of the world. I still miss mine and probably always will. She was the total epitomy of a mother: gentle, understanding, dear and kind. In all ways, exactly what I have always tried to be — and probably not accomplished — to our two daughters.

● One of our people made it big in bowling circles. RoseMary Franco won a trophy THIS tall for having high game (236). So that's what you're doing every Tuesday morning, RoseMary. Atta way, gal.

● Steve Hartwell has left city employment after 10 years. He's going to work for Mobassaly Engineering in Irwindale, working backhoes, graders, that sort of machinery.

Steve, what are we going to do without your antics with city machinery in the July 4 parade?

● There's rattlers in them hills. At least, that's what our friends in the foothills are telling us. Several have been spotted up above 1200 feet . . . probably moving downward. Watch where you step in your garden.

● Gene Perret, who wrote a humorous column for The News years ago, is in Paris with Bob Hope, doing a special feature on Paris' anniversary.

He's still Hope's leading writer. So when you watch the resulting TV special, you'll know that the funniness comes from Gene's pen.

● Ron Pulling, our Washington correspondent, says his friends in Washington, D.C. say they are learning things about Washington they didn't know from his pieces.

He also sent a couple of license plates: WUV U 2, and on the back of a bright red Corvette, driven by a stunning blonde, TAKN. Ron's wife, Florence, has MY RUBY on the back of her red Toyota.

Ron grins when he says, "I think a ruby would have cost less."

Ron also asks for a contribution to the Dan Quayle bookmobile. "It will rival any comic book collection in the world."

● Speaking of license plates, Jo Ann Scott featured quite an array of them in her piece this week on the Arcadia PTA Council installation. Each of those honored were given a clever license plate that represents the job accepted.

Jo Ann, who returned from a goodwill trip to Taiwan recently, joined others who made the trip Tuesday in a presentation that morning. Others who went with her were Steve Goldstone, superintendent of schools in Arcadia, and Diane Lucas.

This was their trial run which was presented at the Inter-Cultural Committee of the Arcadia Chamber of Commerce. Next month, they make the same presentation to Coordinating Council.

● Lucky us. The letter starts "Dear Fun Seekers." Who, us? Then the information reveals that they have just the vacation for us. And $1000 worth of casino action plus a "fine gift" valued from $189 to $1395.

Of course, there are bonuses. And, of course, not everyone received this terrific offer. Only a few . . . thousand, probably.

Well, we won't be going this time.

● Lucky us. We've been offered another terrific opportunity. This time it's a trip to some uncharted area in Southern California. All we have to do is agree to go and have another fantastic opportunity to win, win, win. (And buy, buy, buy.)

For the heck of it, we did No. 2 opportunity several years ago and found it quite disillusioning. To say the least.

Remember my description of the blonde named Sunny with the revealing blouse? Well, the entire advertisement sounded as if she had written it.

This time we decided to pass the chance of a lifetime. Not this time, thanks. No going to Godforsaken territory to hear all about time shares. No asking about the size of insects and being told they've never been seen there before. No inquiry about the lack of facilities and being informed that the developer is a little late in developing. No thanks.

Agrees that there's no enforcement

It makes me very happy to hear so many people speaking up about the lack of enforcement in Sierra Madre of our ordinances.

This is something I have been talking about for many many years only to be told by a lot of scoffers that I didn't know what I was talking about, some of them now seeing the light.

Now if we can get the City Council to tell the Chief of Police to get his men to enforce the ordinances, such as parking on lawns and sidewalks, posting of bills on trees and utility poles. All they have to do is take down a poster on a tree or pole, drive to the address and issue a ticket. Also as they drive around, keep their eyes open for infringements.

Now the council wants us to write penalties into our new tree ordinance. What good will it do?

I have a suggestion — remember when a "circuit judge" would come into town and set up court in the old city hall building to dispense justice?

Why not try it again; there must be a retired judge who would welcome holding court again. It's worth a try and we get fast and firm enforcement.

This nonsense of having to contact the "district attorney" to prosecute the offenders in our city is strictly for the birds — it doesn't happen.

I know of one case that is three years old — our city attorney was supposed to take it to court but still no action.

The people know this so red ticket or what ever they simply go ahead and defy our laws.

The time is way past for some action by our City Council on this problem.

School needs positive trust

We would like to extend a heartfelt and public thank you to the staff at Sierra Madre Elementary School. Our children have attended this fine school for seven years. We have been pleased with the education and the loving care that this wonderful school has provided for them. We tip our hats to the many staff members who have contributed so positively to our children's lives.

Our daughter attends Wilson Middle School this year. She is a sixth grader. We extend thanks and praise to this school as well. We have been impressed with teachers, challenging coursework, and capable administration. We have enjoyed attending school activities where we have been greeted by enthusiastic and energetic young people. They are musicians, cheerleaders, drill team members (The W Girls) and marching drum corp (The W Boys). We would like to express our appreciation to the staff at Wilson Middle School.

We encourage community support of these schools and hope that the unfortunate negative publicity by SMPBE has not tarnished the schools' reputations. It is likely that Sierra Madre will remain under PUSD jurisdiction. If redistricting were a simple matter, chaos would reign in the educational system of California, particularly here in Los Angeles County.

We hope the energy of our community will be turned positively towards supporting our schools and children.

Bonny and Peter Hidas

No building on upper slopes

It is my educated suggestion that no building should be allowed on the slopes of Sierra Madre Mountains to the north of the City of Sierra Madre.

According to my information I have, building on the northern mountain slopes above our fair city of Sierra Madre could be dangerous to the city in general as well as to those who would build homes on that sloping mountainous area.

Keep in mind that as soon as the bulldozers start to push that natural grade of rocky soil into piles of loose dirt we are looking for geological troubles that are so well known along our coastal region. Keep in mind that as soon as the bulldozers start to cut 30-foot-wide roads for homes on those Sierra Madre slopes, that section of the Sierra Madre Mountains will have unnatural angles of repose for the many kinds of sand, rocks and boulders that live above us in a friendly natural setting.

If you do not think the above is true, check the troubles we have had in many parts of our mountains when a heavy rain storm attacks us. I remember seeing mud in a living room as high as the piano keys. I also remember seeing a large boulder in a room four to five feet in diameter. I remember many of the streets flooded with mud. For further proof of disturbed small boulders, go up Santa Anita Rd. past Chantry Flat area. As we wind our way up the road notice the rubble in the side road gullies. Then notice the small boulder like material on the road. This material has rolled from higher altitudes, skipped the gullies and landed on the road. If roads are bulldozed above Sierra Madre this road rubble could happen from the disturbance of the newly cut roads above our city.

I implore you to look at the geology history of mud and boulder flows in other communities. All of the foregoing follows the second law of thermodynamics, which says that everything is slowly but surely decaying. This occurs much faster with the help of man as he builds homes on the steep mountain slopes and cuts wide roads to support that community. Naturally the Sierra Madre Fault will also be glad to help.

Those of you who have had geology courses as I have will support what I have said. Those of you who are engineers see this whole picture quite easily. If the City Council needs some advice from Caltech, I know of such an engineer who will be glad to help.

Very opposed to secession

In addition to the prospect of a change in school districts I don't want, I find myself faced with the task of explaining to my daughter why some people think she should go to school with children from Arcadia rather than with children from Pasadena. I am appalled by the education in human relations the secession movement will (or has already begun to) impose on our children. Should redistricting occur, the children of Sierra Madre will learn that certain classmates are inferior to others, that certain members of our society are second class and therefore discardable.

The children of Pasadena will learn that loyalty to their school was misplaced because they never really belonged anyway. They will learn that they don't count. Long after the children from both towns have forgotten some textbook fact, they will remember the real lesson they learned in elementary school: that words like "equality," "loyalty," and "justice" do not represent values but are simply part of a body of hollow rhetoric that adults speak but do not believe. This is a "better" education?

I would like to dismiss the founders of SMPBE as self-serving, but they are actually short-sighted. I chose Pasadena schools because I want my child to grow up with children from different ethnic groups and economic levels; I want her to enjoy and be part of the rich cultural diversity of Southern California. However, there are also practical advantages to integrated schools. Our children will go to college and work in an ethnically diverse society, and they will be for better prepared for their futures if they are part of that society throughout their growing years. We serve ourselves as well as the larger community when we recognize the realities of present and future America and promote and support intercultural understanding. And surely we serve our own children's confidence when we assure them that all children count.

One of the founders of SMPBE was recently quoted in The News as saying, "We have nothing to lose and everything to gain" in the effort to redistrict. I disagree. We will lose the respect of neighboring communities. In an area full of schools, we will lose our choice of an integrated one. As an annex of Arcadia, we will lose our autonomy. We will lose, I am convinced, our children's trust. And for what?

Historical, Preservation Society meeting June 2

By Phyllis Chapman

The Sierra Madre Historical and Preservation Society invites the public to attend their Annual Dinner Meeting, Friday, June 2, 6:30 p.m., which will be held at the Sierra Madre Masonic Temple, 33 E. Sierra Madre Blvd.

The program entitled, "Mount Lowe: Railway to the Stars" will be presented by June Benton, a member of the Pasadena Historical Society. Considered a marvel of engineering when it was built in the 1890s, the Mount Lowe Railway was a major tourist attraction in the Southland until it was shut down in the 1930s. Fire and flood were among the disasters that had taken their toll.

The project was developed by Professor Thaddeus Sobieski Constantine Lowe (1832-1913), perhaps the most celebrated personality in early Pasadena. The ascent was reached by streetcar and began with the 3000-foot-long Great Incline built on a steep 62 percent grade. There were well-appointed hotels along the way, an observatory to promote scientific research, a powerful beamed searchlight that swept the valley and all of which was connected by street car and a ride with spectacular views and the hair-raising horseshoe curve.

An excellent catered dinner is planned and tickets are $10 each. These may be purchased at Best Buy Drugs, 29 N. Baldwin, at the Historical Society booth at the Art Fair, May 20 and 21 or by sending check made out to the SMH&P Society, P.O. Box 202, Sierra Madre, CA 91024 by May 26.

Senior Society features Del Valle

Mark Del Valle, D.D.S., will be the guest speaker at the Senior Society breakfast meeting in Madonna Hall on Thursday, May 11 at 9 a.m.

Police Blotter

Sierra Madre Police answered 131 calls this week even though the calendar belies that fact.

This week represents the lowest reported crimes in recent memory. Crimes reported in the blotter represent all felonies and high grade misdemeanors, according to Sierra Madre Police Chief Bill Betts.

He notes examples of the 131 activities this week, not reported in the blotter but included, represented such as disturbance music, parties, family disputes, construction work, dogs barking, etc.

Traffic enforcement includes moving violations, hazards in the street, abandoned vehicles, etc.

Juveniles with incorrigibility and truancy problems are among calls plus intrusion alarms, open doors, etc.

Public assist activities include fingerprinting, warrants, subpoena service, assist with other agencies, death notifications, etc.

Calls this week included very few, among them:

— May 3: Auto theft of a motorcycle from a driveway at Fairview and Sunnyside.

— May 6: Paint was sprayed on an auto parked in the street in the 100 block of Bonita.

Dates of no crimes reported include May 1, 2, 4, 5 and 7.

Beautification Committee plant exchange May 13

Four plant experts who will provide information on culture and care of the various plants donated for the fourth annual Free Plant Exchange Saturday were named by Shelby Pope, chairman of the Sierra Madre Beautification Committee event.

The exchange will take place in Memorial Park from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday, May 13.

Leone Nash, cymbidium fancier, and Jerry Wilwerding, floraculturist, as well as Beautification Committee members Jim Grancich and Gillian Hile, both licensed nurserymen, will be on hand during the event to answer questions posed by prospective plant parents.

Sierra Madre green thumbers and garden enthusiasts are encouraged to donate plants, cuttings, slips, seeds, etc. and choose among those contributed by others.

Plant lovers are welcome to take home plants, free of charge, even if they may not have some to contribute.

Accompanying the exchange will be a silent auction of cymbidiums contributed by Victor Daniels and Wilwerding.

Funds raised by the auction will be used by the Beautification Committee for their various beautification projects in the community which include Wistaria Awards and Commendations, Children's Sidewalk Art, Downtown Hanging Planters, Commons Area Beautification, the annual Wistaria Fete, Mini Nursery and general and promotion of beautification, restoration and preservation of existing beauty spots in Sierra Madre.

MAIN STREET
By Ron Hutson

State Main Street Coordinator on-site evaluation reports continue next week.

Reading, re-reading and writing about Main Street's modest success during 1988-89 has my mental juices flowing. My enthusiasm is at an all time high and my concern for the future of downtown is foremost in my thoughts.

The "Downtown Idea Exchange" is published by a consulting firm in New York which has, since 1954, analyzed and reported on downtown problems and solutions in an effort to prove a focus for revitalizing our cities. I've read the Exchange off and on since 1958.

Their most recent issue stirred some thoughts I've harbored for years. During the '50s-'60s-'70s and '80s, marketing trends, merchandising techniques and retail sale promotions have come and gone, only to be recycled under more fashionable titles.

Some things have not changed, never do change, never will and have always been fundamentally necessary for a healthy, economically viable downtown. Their simplicity is scary.

Downtown revitalization is not simple. It must be— not just should be — based on comprehensive action involving the private and public sectors, each doing what it does best and not laying off failure on the other because they were too lazy to do their part.

Dynamic, action-oriented leadership with vision must — not just should — step out front to lead the revitalization parade. They will get hooted, blamed, chastised and accused of self-dealing. They will be successful; it's only a matter of time.

No one does it better than "us." Not the State, the Feds, an outside consultant or whatever. Local, hometown sweat, time and money will always produce the desired result because no one knows downtown Main Street better than the property owners, businesses and faithful volunteers.

Understanding what is going on in the marketplace, fostering adjustments to take advantage of changes and demonstrating willingness to change must — not should — exist at all private and public decision making levels.

I often wonder how any concept so simple can be so difficult to implement.

Contact Main Street c/o Ron Hutson, Project Manager, 232 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre, CA 91024. See you on Main Street.

Art Fair May 20, 21

By Marylyn Barnes

On May 20 and 21 the 27th Annual Sierra Madre Art Fair will be held at Memorial Park. It promises to be an exciting event with outstanding work exhibited in a variety of media: watercolors, oil paintings, sculpture, pottery, ceramics, blown glass, jewelry, knitwork, leather work, batik, silk screen, handwoven & handpainted fabric, clothing, photograpy, calligraphy, drawing, seriographs, etchings, prints, graphics, wood, lucite, acrylics, paper sculpture, note cards, bonsai plants and the list goes on.

There are approximately 20 artists that are new to Art Fair this year. Among them are watercolorist Marie Roe from Sierra Madre and Joan Sandford from La Canada. Also from Los Angeles, silver jewelry maker, Collen Crosby. Other new faces will be David Levy's and Joe Hoynick's. Levy does woodwork and Hoynick is a photographer.

Interestingly, many artists who are exhibiting this year have been with the fair for many years. For example, sculptor John Allen, a former Sierra Madrean now living in Santa Barbara will be here, as well as Joan Alberschardt with her marvelous handknit sweaters, and Brenda Ranney with handsome handmade gold and silver jewelry. Monrovian Thelma Bohnsock, will again display her elegant oil paintings, and Frank Yee from Monterey Park will offer his bonsai plants.

Several artists from out of state add immeasurably to the Art Fair. Pennsylvanian Lois Revlock has been exhibiting her lovely watercolors here for years, as has Jack Dietrich from New Mexico. Octavia Curry, now living in SunCity, Ariz., will again have her note cards. And there are many others.

"I didn't think anyone felt that way but me."

"It wasn't as if one day I was fine, and the next day I was depressed. It was gradual, and by the time I admitted to myself that I needed help, I was deeply depressed. I even had thoughts of suicide.

At Las Encinas Hospital, I learned that depression is nothing to be afraid of, but losing your desire to live is! I wish everyone who felt like I did would call for help. I know it's really hard. . . fear of embarrassment is what made me wait until it was almost too late.

The physicians and staff at Las Encinas were my lifeline. Now that I've received their help, I wonder why I waited so long."

vironmental Quality Act when she said, "All you have to know is No. 15042, 'the Authority to Disapprove projects: A public agency may disapprove a project if necessary in order to avoid one or more significant effects on the environment that would occur if the project were approved as proposed.' "

Caroline Brown worried about the endangered species and wildlife habitat and Gurdon Miller said the E.I.R. was "clearly flawed." He said, "They cannot state that there is not an active fault (under this site)." And to the City Council he said, "You don't have enough information to deny the E.I.R. . . . On the basis of the inadequacies of the E.I.R., you can deny the applicants' appeal."

Margaret Van Buskirk gave nine geological reasons why the Lawsons should be denied their building plans: Transverse ranges are easily fractured; the site lies in the Sierra Madre fault zone; faults move up and down rather than horizontally; the earthquake is likely because of the thrust on the fault; there is a 5000-year return for faults and in this case the land is 6000 years overdue for a fault; when a faultlet appears that means rocks have moved; major problems are "will the fault rupture and where is the fault? Are they willing to take the chance?"

Robert Van Buskirk addressed the traffic problem and said the proposed Chantry Gate telephone would be smashed the same night "and the next night everyone would have a key to the gate." He also said, "I find George P. Zimmerman's name on the E.I.R. report. He is also the city contract engineer. Isn't this a conflict of interest? The one who originates the E.I.R. is also evaluating it."

Lisa Tschopp, a teenager, talked about the lock at the gate and knew what her peers would do to get a key to the gate. "These plans don't benefit Sierra Madre at all," she noted.

Lawson Martin complained about the stories that were going around town about him. "I have been honest from day one. I never wavered except when forced . . . Originally I said our intentions were to build our dream home and one or two others. I own two lots, 3.3 acres. And I have offered 11.2 acres north for sale recently. I have no plans for future development . . . I'm going to build a house there unless the council condemns it . . . Development is going to occur there."

Although the Martins' attorney, Mark Steres, said he was "somewhat floored by the procedure to deny the E.I.R. without a public hearing," the council went on to deny the tentative parcel map.

Western Waste Industries, the city's trash haulers, have requested another rate increase and a five-year contract "to look ahead to capital investment so we have a chance to operate and borrow money. We're looking in the future, not now," he told the council.

The council set the public hearing for June 13, stating that a 4.5 percent increase would come to $9.83 per month in residential rates. Commercial and business accounts would increase to $67.49.

Joanne Walters, code enforcement officer; Fire Marshal Bill Kramer; City Inspector Steve Pock; and Chief of Police Bill Betts talked to the council about their roles in code enforcement.

Seventy-two percent of those "bending the rules" comply after Walters talks with them. Betts explained the "different varying degrees of responsibility " and said It's can we cite versus should we cite."

Pock feels that most weekend illegal building problems can be cared for during the weekdays and told the council, "You can't go inside (a home to investigate) unless it's for someone's health and safety." He does 10 to 15 inspections per day, he said.

Kramer said he had 80 percent compliance on the first notice. And if after the final notice they have not complied, violators are referred to the district attorney with request for an office hearing. "We have almost 100 percent full compliance in 24 hours after that."

In other action, Councilwoman Lisa Fowler made a motion to adopt a 45-day moratorium on downzoning while it is being reviewed by the Planning Commission. This is a reaction to the General Plan Citizens' Committee work, led by Bill Chilton.

The concert will be held in the International Ballroom of the Pasadena Hilton Hotel, 150 S. Los Robles.

Tips, Tales & Tantalizers

What was the first musical instrument in space? What did Presidents Lincoln, Coolidge, Eisenhower and Reagan have in common?

Well, it all began in 1821 with a 16-year-old German clockmaker named Christian Buschmann, who invented a device that soon gained world popularity. It consisted of 15 pitch pipes put together, and when one blew into them it made music. It was called a Mundaeoline in German, "mouth harp," or more commonly known as the harmonica.

I'm sure that everyone has heard of the Hohner harmonica, and it was Matthias Hohner who reduced the harmonica to its present size and shape. In 1857 with the help of Hohner's wife and two employees they made 650 harmonicas. Today the Hohner factory produces at least that many in one hour. There are more than 50 models ranging in size from 1½ inches to 23 inches, this larger one having 384 reeds and 96 double holes.

The harmonica has entertained many people through the years. Wally Shirra's rendition of "Jingle Bells" was played in space on the Gemini VI; Presidents Lincoln, Coolidge, Eisenhower, and Reagan were "harp-players"; and unfortunately, yet fortunately "harp-player" Frank James' life was saved by his harmonica — which was in his shirt pocket. It deflected a bullet aimed at his heart!

On Stage

By Mary Cogswell Baum

What makes Theatre Americana's production of Tim Kelly's "The Phantom of the Opery" so much fun is the wild abandon of its cast and the remarkable effective stage stunts by which bodies fall from the sky and characters whiz about the stage. The set provides swift change from scene to scene, and everybody, actors and audience, has a fine silly time.

The script is Kelly's usual heavy handed burlesque of some familiar genre, amusing enough but nothing special, so director Richard Doherty and his assistants must get the credit for turning it into a mad romp that deserves the enthusiastic applause at its curtain.

There are 25 characters, mostly women (Kelly writes for schools and community theaters and knows what he's doing) and everybody overacts with unabashed enthusiasm. Standouts are Anastasha DeJonne as a cleaning woman of the "Feet, do yo' duty!" variety, Lynee Cooper as the beautiful and innocent Christine Swansong and Gabriel Cortez-Arregui, who nearly sprains his face looking supercilious as a music critic named Silky Acidtongue. Then there's Lisa Bawdon as an egotistic prima donna, Lance Ashton Slaton as the heroic Lt. Farliegh Good and courageous Chris Marneus as a variety of dead bodies. Peter Jones is acrobatic as a fine fiendish Phantom and there is a grandly goofy ballet. Mightilly important to the atmosphere is a Rus May who plays "Spookyoso" on the organ at appropriate moments.

Bring the kids. They'll love it and with luck the Phantom may kidnap one or two.

TA knows it has a winner. "Phantom" runs longer than usual at Farnsworth Park, Lake Ave. and Mount Curve in Altadena.

Performances are Friday and Saturday at 8 through May 27. On May 13 there is a dinner show at 6:30 at $13.50 a head. For the usual information call 791-4497. For dinner reservations call Anne at 797-1551.

It has to happen sometime.

The San Gabriel Valley Civic Light Opera has had wonderful opening night luck. And their production of Irving Berlin's "Annie Get Your Gun" is a charmer with Belle Calaway prettier than Ethel Merman but with the same chandelier - rattling voice and lack of inhibition, Michael Hawkins as the compelling but chauvinistic sharpshooter who charms her and a full complement of children, Indians, cowboys and show people to set them off.

And surely no other performance will have the misfortunes of opening night where elaborate stage effects emitted one pop and then died, costumes fell off, and sound systems went whacko. The performers ignored it all with professional aplomb and the technical crew must have heaved a sigh of relief at curtain call, knowing so many coincidences could hardly happen again.

Shining through untarnished, however, is the happy tale of the little hillbilly who outshot the crowned heads of Europe in Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show. "Annie" contains some of Berlin's best music: "The Girl That I Marry," "Doin' What Comes Natur'ly," "Falling in Love is Wonderful," and many more, including the immortal "There's No Business Like Show Business."

Rikki Lugo's choreography is as shining as usual and director Bill Shaw and musical director Roger Lockie have, despite problems, come up with another memorable show.

"Annie" has nine more performances at the San Gabriel Civic Auditorium through May 21. Call 308-2868 for tickets and information.

And chins up, performers, repeat after me, "There's no business like . . ."

'Phantom of the Op'ry'

Get ready for Theatre Americana's next show "The Phantom of the Op'ry," a shriek-a-minute spoof of Gaston Leroux's famous mystery "The Phantom of the Opera."

The show is written by Tim Kelley and Richard Doherty directs. It plays Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m. May 12, 13, 19, 20, 26 and 27 at the William B. Davies Building, Farnsworth Park, Mt. Curve Dr. at North Lake Avenue, Altadena.

May 12 is already sold out. May 13 is a dinner show at 6:30. The cost is $13.50 and reservations are needed. Call Anne, 793-9978 or 797-1551, evenings.

Tickets may be obtained at the box office. General admission is $5 with special rates for seniors, students, and children. Call 791-4497 for further information.

Breakfast served to 700 'hungries'

More than 700 break fasts were served last Saturday morning at the 23rd annual Upper Hastings Ranch Pancake Breakfast, according to Abel Ramirez, breakfast chairman. The breakfast line started forming before the opening at 8 a.m. and continued all morning, he said.

Art Gabriel, a former Upper Hastings trustee, worked his 20th year on the serving line. Other UHRA board members helped in cooking, serving and clean up.

Proceeds from the breakfast are devoted to the Annual UHRA Scholarship fund. Fire Station 31 sent a hook and ladder fire truck and a pumper to entertain the children and to help adults better understand the role of the fire department in Pasadena.

Among the displays were a group of miniature autos and booth tables devoted to scouting, the Upper Hastings Library and local programs. Scouts from Assumption troop 31 helped in the clean-up detail. Ramirez said he was pleased with the turnout and extended his appreciation to all the helpers who made the breakfast a success.

Spring fling brings out Green

The Green Street Spring Fling sponsored by they newly established Green Street Business and Property Owners Association last Saturday attracted strolling window shoppers, antique seekers and fashionably dressed ladies at the street's first open house.

The Spring Fling celebrated the hard work of merchants and particularly four business women who banded together to defeat the proposed Pasadena Light Rail using Green Street as a commuter ride thoroughfare, according to Charlotte Amtelline. Amtelline owns the Green Dolphins Street Antiques.

The other three business owners were Linda Haque of Bantam Associates, Helen Franke of Star Personnel and Marsha Jacobs of Aarnum Gallery. The Association now numbers more than 150 dues-paying members, says Jacobs.

The goal of the Association is to beautify Green Street, making it a continuing viable business district in Pasadena, Amtelline said.

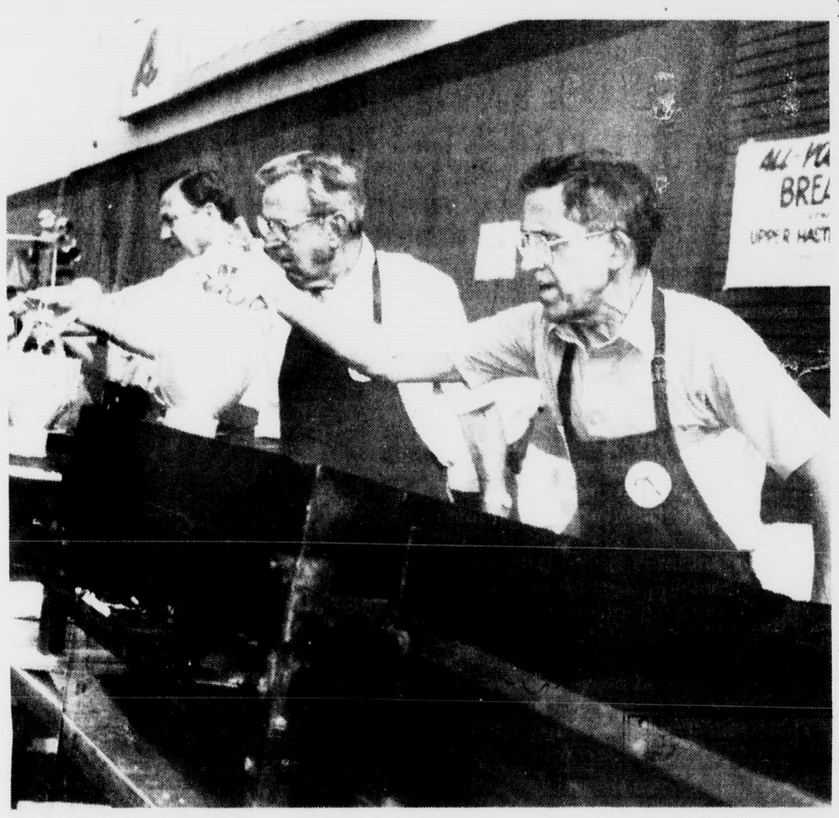

The street dates from the early 1920s, buildings are old and historic, and businesses are traditional, she continued.

Green Street was festooned with balloons and flowers for the occasion. Merchants held open house and served refreshments. Open to the public were shops from Madison to Holliston Streets.

HOW SALT CAN DAMAGE YOUR CLOTHING

Strange is the thing in front of our nose which we learn to ignore and not recognize for what it is.

Who ordinarily thinks of perspiration as salt?

Yet we all know that this is true, that one of the principal components of honest sweat — is salt.

So it naturally follows that all clothing subject to contact with perspiration will also be subject to whatever harm salt can produce in fabric or dye.

Here's the whole thing in a nutshell;

Perspiration is destructive to your clothes. While we've mentioned to you umpteen times that to clean soon aftere staining is the very soul of wisdom, in few regards is this more important than the case of perspiration stains.

In short, don't let your dresses acquire underarm rings before you bring them in.

We suggest, instead, that you take action pronto.

Bethany

By Al Elby

Pastor Clyde was sharing the difficulties that are inherent to the Pastorate. He pointed out the truth of that tried and old axiom, "Don't enter the ministry unless you're called by God." The ministry can prove to be a meat grinder where the meat used is the Pastoral Staff. As parents, we find it arduous enough trying to maintain stability in our families. How would we like to deal with 200 to 1000 people of diverse socio-economic backgrounds.

Clyde pointed out that if you're serious about killing off or getting rid of your Pastor, he has five sure-fire ways. 1) Say Amen whenever he preaches. If you do it often enough, he'll preach himself to death. 2) Compliment him on his accomplishments and he'll work himself to death. 3) Applaud his visitation time. If you do he'll die from lack of sleep. 4) Tell him of your concern to reach the lost. Guaranteed, he'll die of a heart attack. 5) Lastly, tell him you've committed yourself to mental, emotional and spiritual growth. Then you won't need him anymore.

Pator Clyde made these points with tongue in cheek but, under that surface, there is truth that should be dealt with. These servants of the Lord get all the flack but few of the accolades. Let's all be more sensitive to these men of God and be part of their rooting section not judges at their inquisition trial. We at Bethany love our new, young pastor, and appreciate how God has used him in our vineyard.

Congregational

Whenever an idea or an ideal gains the high profile of national attention, like a holiday such as Christmas, Easter or Thanksgiving, it will almost certainly get distorted.

Mother's Day is a special Sunday of the year that calls on families to show tangible expressions of appreciation to their mothers. We see signs in florist's windows, on doors to card shops, and in the women's sections of department stores, reminding us all that May 14 is Mother's Day. Millions of mothers will receive flowers, cards, breakfast in bed, gifts and perhaps even taken out to brunch after church.

But do you ever wonder how moms feel when all this gush of attention comes their way . . . and then subsides almost as fast as it came? I am sure mothers like the attention but shouldn't it be stretched out over more of the year so they can really believe they are appreciated?

I would like to challenge family members this year to pause and begin to reflect on God's estimate of motherhood. God elevates motherhood. Being a mother is not a second rate calling. God's only begotten Son entered this world through a human mother.

The remaining Sunday evenings at 6 p.m. in May will have family emphasis. Pastor John Reed, associate pastor and director of the counseling center, will be presenting family oriented issues: principles of marriage, and ministering patterns within the family structure on these three Sunday evenings: May 14, 21, and 28. This Sunday will feature special music by a church family, and Pastor Reed will then present "Five Major Concerns for Families, and the Role the Church has in Addressing These Issues."

St. Rita's

St. Rita's School is open for registration for new students at the school office each day between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 3:15 p.m. There are openings in grades K, 2, 3, 4, and 5. It is necessary to bring with you the child's baptismal certificate, his/her last report card, and the $60 non-refundable registration fee.

On Sunday, May 21, after the 10 a.m. and noon masses there will be registration for new parishioners in the Parish Activity Center.

May is the month of Mary, the Mother of God. In her honor there will be a Rosary and Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament on all the Wednesdays of May at 7:30 p.m. in the church.

There will be a family mass followed by a dinner in the Parish Activity Center on Friday, May 19, at 7 p.m. for all youth group members (7th through 9th grade) and their families. RSVPs can be left in the youth minister's box at the school or a message can be left on the answering machine at 355-3807.

The De Paul center (1105 Bluff Road, Montebello) is offering Serenity Day, a reflection on the 12 Steps for recovering alcoholics. The focus for the group will be to freshen up the awareness of the work God is already doing for the individuals in recovery. The date is Saturday, May 20, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The $20 cost for the day includes lunch. For further information, contact the De Paul Center at (213) 723-7343.

Memorial concert May 14 at Church of Transfiguration

"Rejoice in the Lord Alway," is the theme for the Third Annual Memorial Concert at the Episcopal Church of the Transfiguration on May 14 at 4:30 p.m. in the afternoon. The public is invited to attend. Choir Director Lawrence Warden has announced the addition of an orchestra and singers from the William Hall Chorale. Featured soloist is Kathy Warden. "We are singing in celebration of people to whom we want to pay tribute," said Warden, "and to the glory of God."

The concert is a nonprofit, and largely volunteer, effort. Donations can be offered as a memorial for loved ones or in appreciation of those living, particularly mothers and grandmothers to tie in with Mother's Day.

The church is located at the corner of First Ave. and Lemon, 1881 S. First, one block east of Santa Anita Ave., Arcadia. Please call the church office for more information, (818) 445-3340.

Camp Fire

Camp Fire Council of the Foothills is now taking registrations for Family Camp as well as its 5 one-week youth sessions.

Camp Wasewagan, in the San Bernardino Mts. along the Santa Ana River, has been in continuous operation by Camp Fire since 1936.

Family Camp will run June 30 - July 2. Camp fire includes 6 meals and activities including swimming, canoeing, hiking, arts and crafts, games and sports. All activities are geared to different ages and are completely staffed. According to P.J. Wade, camp director, "this is a great way for a family to enjoy an inexpensive vacation together."

Application information is available by contacting Camp Fire in Pasadena, (818) 796-9156.

Pasadena Orchestra to perform in May

The Pasadena Community Orchestra will close out its regular season of events with a back to back pair of performances in May. The first performance will be a special program at First Church of the Nazarene at 3700 E. Sierra Madre Blvd. at 8 p.m. on Friday, May 12.

The second concert will be on Friday, May 19, at the First United Methodist Church at 500 E. Colorado in Pasadena, at 8:15 p.m. This event will be part of the orchestra's regular season of four concerts.

The group will give the premier performance of "Five Premises for Orchestra," a composition by Gilbert Bottcher who is first clarinetist of the orchestra. Bottcher wrote the piece while a graduate student in music composition at UCLA.

The programs will be conducted by musical director Wayne Reinecke. The Pasadena Community Orchestra is a 55-65 member group which is made up of amateur musicians for throughout the Southern California area.

The group will give one more program in its 1988-89 season on June 17, at Memorial Park in Sierra Madre. A Concert in the Park of "pops" selections given in an outdoor setting at 6:30 p.m. in the evening. For information about the orchestra call (818) 445-6708.

Maurer proposed discussion on foothills conservancy

demonstrated an overwhelming desire to preserve the hillsides in their pristine state and would strongly support establishment of a public conservancy for Sierra Madre which would be empowered by the state to purchase private lands and hold the resulting hillside open space in perpetuity.

"It would be my hope that the owners of undeveloped hillside property would respond favorably. Under the proposed new hillside ordinance land above 1200 foot elevation could only build one house per 40 acres and below 1200 foot one per 10 acres. Selling the entire parcel of land for fair market value, hopefully, would seem like a reasonable alternative."

He noted that one hillside property owner has already indicated willingness to go along if enough other owners are agreeable to warrant establishment of the conservancy.

According to Mountjoy's office state funding, probably from the state general fund, would finance the purchases if the state legislature approved the conservancy.

The Coachella Mountains Conservancy includes all hillside and mountain lands which can be seen from the valley, stretching over a vast area east from San Gorgonio almost to Thermal and from Joshua Tree National Monument to Mt. San Jacinto and the Santa Rosas. The Santa Monica Mountains and California Coastal Conservancies are also immense areas.

If Sierra Madre were to petition now for a conservancy covering only its hillside areas, the petition could later be expanded to include larger portions or even the entire frontal slopes of the San Gabriel Mountain Range.

Maurer's proposal included a request for the Sierra Madre Council to also contact city councils in other cities fronting on the San Gabriels to determine mutual interest in a conservancy request for the entire range.

Several cities involved in the move to protect and preserve our hillsides expressed interest in helping with whatever may be necessary to initiate the conservancy request.

Maurer's proposal was not an agenda item and therefore will not be considered by the council until at least the next meeting. Maurer expressed the hope that at that time the council would approve the proposal and vote to expedite action.

— J.M.

WHAT WE TEACH
WHAT WE BELIEVE:

in our classes and course work, we teach how to move from sense living, that of living on a purely material level, to living from the center. We learn to live by spiritual principles. We know that the mind is not constructed to take two opposing ideas at the same time, and therefore, as we learn to develop the single eye, keeping our mind and attention on God, there is no room for depressing negative concepts and ideas. Since all life is an out-picturing of consciousness that which we seek, that which we think about all day long, is our experience. As we fill our minds with Truth, God ideas, God Principles, God activity, out lives outpicture this. Our basic idea is that there is one Presence and One Power. It is operative in our lives as we let it be.

Animal lover draws, paints his wild pets

One might say that Al Pendleton "talks to the animals" much like Dr. Doolittle. But he not only talks to them; he draws them in the most interesting ways.

"I've always drawn. I like animals most of the time more than humans," says the man with the graying red beard and an avant gard "look" about him.

"I've been drawing all my life. I just drew; I didn't do school work. I got burned out of a few of the area schools, then my folks split up and I went in to the service between the years of 1943 and '47. I wanted to go to art school," so he took the GI bill and attended Chousinard Art School for six months, says the man who fights constant skin cancer because of his many hours spent in the sun in his "beach bum" period.

He's known a few famous people, too. He went to sixth grade with Stan Freeberg, the comedy writer, in South Pasadena. Mostly, though, he describes himself as a "troublemaker" during his school years. It's difficult to see this gentle, animal-loving man as a troublemaker.

Pendleton spends many hours giving his animal drawings a personality that is nearly unequalled. His ostrich looks out disdainfully. His peacock is as narcissistic as can be. His cats nearly meow from the drawing paper.

Indeed, he makes them all into real people. And tigers, elephants, dogs, turtles, whales, camels, giraffes, zebras. And more.

"All animals have personality. I go to the zoo, I look at reference books. And they're as different as you and I. I have to like cats for their independence. I only have two that cuddle (out of the 11 living with him and his wife). One is an old cat, 18, named Gideon. Then we raised a raccoon for 10 years. I feed skunks, owls, squirrels, and, of course, birds. To me the most beautiful things in the world are butterflies and tigers and hummingbirds."

He continues, "If I had my life to live over again, I would try to be a veterinarian. I enjoy the hands-on experience with animals. We have three dogs and 11 cats. When we go to the store to buy food, everyone asks why all the cat food.

"I call my animals outrageous names. I'm living with Winnie the Pooh Dog," he laughs. "I understand animals. Animals are like little children. In fact I wrote a story about a little girl and my wife did it during a KCET auction." Although he has submitted the story for publication, it hasn't made it yet. He describes it as a story for little children, to be read to little children.

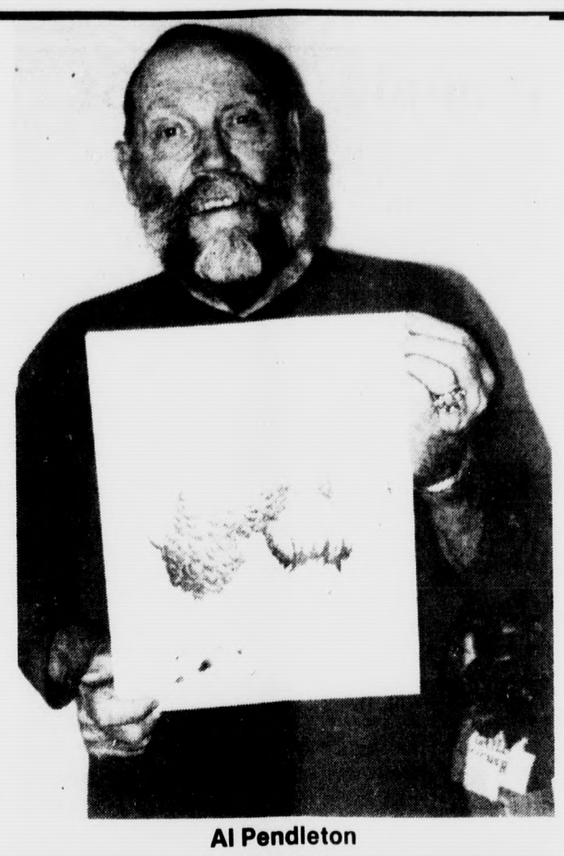

Pendleton said, "I often walk the dogs in Bailey Canyon. One day I found a box taped shut and there were kittens in that box. Someone had brought that box to Bailey Canyon to get rid of those kittens. Can you imagine that? Well, we gave those kittens a home. We have a cat that has a big mouth and we call him Jackie Gleason. Then there's one with a moustache and we call him Groucho."

He works four, five, six hours on each of his creations. He works in a stippling technique as well as pen and ink drawings. His prints 11 x 14 inches are $10. Originals drawings are $125 to $150.

Pendleton has been in the Sierra Madre Art Fair once and appears in other art fairs occasionally. He was in the L.A. Zoo Art Show for two years in a row.

He says, "I will keep on drawing until I die. The idea isn't totally to sell. It's wonderful recreation and if you can create something beautiful . . ."

That he has.

program of nature awareness tours for local third grade classes.

Other organizations which supported the application include the Sierra Madre Seach & Rescue Team, Beautification Committee, Nature Friends, California Conservation Corps and various youth groups who utilize the lower area for overnight camporees.

The application states that the city of Sierra Madre is dedicated to the preservation and protection of the frontal range of the San Gabriel Mountains.

The new grant will provide the means to take a giant step toward the active continuation of this proud tradition.

Native reptiles and amphibians

Offered by the Natural History Museum of Los Angeles County, "Amphibians and Reptiles of Southern California" will give students the opportunity to explore and observe first-hand the rich array of coastal and desert habitats that exist among the snakes, frogs, turtles, salamanders, and lizards of the area.

About 2000 students from throughout the country will perform dances, plays and music on two outdoor stages, and nearly 2000 works of art, all by special education students, will be on display.

The event is free and open to the public.

"NOW I HAVE MY FAMILY BACK"

"For years my family lived with pain and frustration. My husband, Jim, is an alcoholic.

At first none of us could face it. I didn't know what to do. He had no control. I had no control. The whole family was losing hope. Then I called the SHARE UNIT.

They showed us how family intervention works. Now, with treatment, I have the man I love back in my life. I have my family."

If you have purchased a car from me you know I do everything in my power to make the purchase a pleasant experience and that I do care. Ask for me personally, and remember I take Sundays off.

Debating Russians at ARWC

Clark Bowers will talk about his debating the Russians and acting as surrogate speaker for Ronald Reagan and George Bush when he addresses the Thursday, May 18 dinner meeting of the Arcadia Republican Women's Club at the Embassy Suites Hotel in Arcadia. A social hour will begin at 6 p.m. followed by dinner and program at 7 p.m.

Currently the director of the Claremont Institutes Commission on U.S. - U.S.S.R. Relations, Bower, when he was 24, was the youngest of 10 men selected to represent the United States in negotiations with the Soviet Union at the U.S. - Soviet Emerging Leaders Summit on Education and Political Affairs.

He also captained the U.S. national debate team that faced the U.S.S.R. team in 1986. He was then chosen to debate solo against the Soviets on an ABC radio forum in Los Angeles.

In the 1984 presidential campaign, Bowers was a full time national surrogate speaker for President Reagan, and in 1988, he acted as a surrogate for Vice President Bush.

Though they must make reservations, teenagers are invited to hear the speaker at no charge, reports Joann Ruggles, spokesman for the Arcadia Republican Women.

Reservations are requested by May 15 and may be made by calling Virginia Kleinman at 355-4489 or Donna Green, 355-2925.

Historical Society to hear about "Women of the West"

"Women of the West," a discussion about the women who made their mark in the history of the west, will be presented by Gloria Lothrop at the Friday, May 12, 7 p.m. meeting of the Arcadia Historical Society in the auditorium at Hinshaw's Department Store.

Lothrop, a professor of history at Cal Poly Pomona, has been honored by California Historical Society and currently is on the board of the California Historical Society. She is past president of the Los Angeles Historical Society.

"We've heard of the adventures and exploits of 'Lucky,' Huntington, Fremont, Stanford, etc. but who were the women who made their mark in our history. Let's close the gender gap on the many unsung heroines of the west," states the meeting notice in the Arcadia Historical Society's newsletter.

Rotary Associates make campership donation

The Arcadia Rotary Associates, the auxiliary of the Arcadia Rotary Club, recently presented a $1000 donation to the Arcadia Campership program of the Arcadia Community Coordinating Council.

The gift, which represents the proceeds from various activities which the associates have sponsored during the year, was presented to Phyllis Parker and Pat Wallace, campership co-chairmen, reports Kathy Tyler, Rotary Associates president.

The name of the Rotary auxiliary, for the spouses of Rotary members, used to be Rotary Ann, but with women now becoming Rotarians, the feminine name for the spouses' group no longer seemed appropriate, according to a recent Rotary bulletin.

For a while the name Rotary Andy was used along with Rotary Ann, but this year Arcadia Rotary changed the name for all spouses to Rotary Associates.

VNA slates annual May brunch benefit

An E-Z Go golf cart is the featured raffle prize, and there will be a "matchbox raffle," a mini-raffle with surprises that might include theatre tickets, dinners, or hair and nail appointments, reports Shirley Butterworth, VNA spokesman.

Carol Libby, auction chairman, and auctioneer Ron Hutson will offer a variety of items, including beach house weekends as well as objects of art and silver.

Proceeds from the brunch will benefit the VNA of Pasadena an San Gabriel Valley which merged with the Los Angeles auxiliary in January of this year.

Minutemen lose two

Week 10 of the baseball season did not treat Maranatha High School's team very well, as the Minutemen lost two games, eliminating any hope of making the CIF playoffs.

Jason Trotter got an RBI double in the third inning of Maranatha's 7-3 loss to L.A. Baptist on Thursday. It was the only extra base hit for the Minutemen; however, Trotter and Rob Winder each went for 2-for-3 in the loss.

Jon Hudson pitched four innings in a losing effort.

David Ruiz scored on Mike Shoeman's RBI ground out in the sixth inning for Maranatha's lone run in a 22-1 loss to Montclair Prep on Tuesday of last week.

The Minutemen went into the last game of the season on Tuesday this week with an 8-13 season record, 3-6 in Alpha League. They faced Marshall Fundamental in the finale.

Optimist Club honors basketball players

Basketball award winners of the Tri-Star competition were honored by the Arcadia Optimist Club at a recent dinner held at Fuddruckers Restaurant.

Eight area youngsters qualified for the district finals at Gahr High School in Cerritos. They are Peter Andrews, Joseph Baha, Travis Plake, Kevin Hayashi, Scott Hayashi, Corrine Roberge, George Yeh and Tony Young.

The Arcadia Optimist Club sponsors the competition which is open to all boys and girls between the ages of eight and 13.

The service club is dedicated to promoting the youth of the community through various projects throughout the year, according to Jack Carlton, club spokesman.

Meetings are held at the Cask 'n Clever Restaurant in Arcadia on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month.

Area residents interested in learning more about the Optimist Club are encouraged to contact Carlton at 355-9704 or Hoyt Sullivan, 574-7263.

Julie Bent catches for Flintridge Prep

Because she always wanted to be better than her older brother, George, Julie Bent was spurred on to do well in sports, particularly baseball and softball. Her determination has landed this 17-year-old Sierra Madre resident a scholarship to play softball at San Jose State.

Currently a senior at Flintridge Prep, Julie has been the starting varsity catcher for four years and has a .450 batting average. She also has the ability to switch hit. In the first game of the season, Julie hit a home run that "set the tone for me," she said, adding that she hopes the team can make it to the playoffs which start next week.

She began playing baseball when she was 8 years old and was the second girl to go through the East Altadena Little League program.

Now she also plays for the Southern California Shilos, a group of 15- to 19-year-olds who travel in competition all over California. Julie's hoping that she will have an opportunity to go with her team to the Nationals in Sioux Falls, South Dakota in August.

Actually she plays baseball all year around, for the Amateur Softball Association in the summer and the Amateur Fast Pitch Association in the winter. It was during the winter season last year that she played for Rod Carew, a retired baseball professional, who "made her aware of the offensive part of the game."

Being a catcher, a physically demanding position, Julie has had to learn to keep in shape, to keep her legs strong through weight training and bicycling. She's learned how to "take care of herself" and to use "lots of ice."

Julie says she likes all sports: volleyball, basketball, soccer, equestrian events. "Sports is what I do," she adds.

St. Rita's wins three championships

Three of a possible four championships were won by the track athletes from St. Rita's School in last week's Catholic Youth Organization Archdiocesan Track Finals at Pius X High School in Downey. Coach Randy Davies reports that three titles have been won by a school in only one other time in CYO history and that this marks the most successful track season ever at St. Rita's.

Both the girls and boys B squads, for sixth grade and younger, were champs as was the girls varsity team. The boys varsity finished fifth out of 41 schools qualifying for the finals.

The brother/sister duo of Stephanie and Kevin Koeper both won their respective mile events.

Mary Megan Fitzgibbons "shattered the school record" in the B long jump, posting 13'8", adds Davies who also credits Theresa Haynes, a seventh grader with an upset win in the long jump.

Other first place finishers were Rachel Frausto, an eighth grader, who competes in the shot put, and Robert Quigley, fifth grade, 220 race.

Mile relay winners were Allison Davies, Fitzgibbons, Jenny Hemela and Jessica Chairchiaro in the girls B; and Erin McGoldrick, Katie Philips, Nicole Harris and Bridget Scott, girls A.

The boys B team of Jason Francis, Robert Quigley, Jake Dancy and Caleb Porter were winners of the 440 relay event.

Apache softball loses to Glendale

Arcadia's only score came in the second inning when Jennifer Phillips scored on a Kellie Reinke ground out.

The final week of the regular season finds Arcadia, currently in the Pacific League's third place with a 3-3 record, facing Hoover on Tuesday and hosting Crescenta Valley, the league leader, for a 3:15 p.m. game today, Thursday, May 11.

Arcadia High School's softball squad left four girls at third base, including Missy Talbert who hit a two-out triple in the fifth inning and lost a 3-1 decision to Glendale on Tuesday last week.

Carrie Windsor pitched a complete game, giving up just four hits, but all three Glendale runs were unearned. It was Windsor's first loss in nine grades this season.

AHS prepares for CIF track

Herb Lee of Arcadia High School won the Pacific League with 6'4" in the high jump and will compete in the CIF Prelims which will take place at Camarillo High School on Saturday, May 13.

Other league leaders from Arcadia were Lisa Atwell, who was a winner with a throw of 35 feet, 3¾ inches in the shot put, and Shelby Elliot, who won the long jump at 17 feet, 1½ inches.

Teammates who qualified for the Prelims by placing in the top three at the league finals which were held at Arcadia High on Friday are Rick Provenzano, 800 meter; Tina Deaddy, triple jump; and Angela Giakas, 3200 meter.

La Salle track places third

Seven members of the La Salle High School track team, which finished in third place in the San Fernando Valley League, have qualified for the CIF Prelims to be held at Arcadia High School on Saturday, May 13, beginning at noon.

Mark Gilbreth qualified for the pole vault, 110 high hurdles, 330 low hurdles, and high jump.

ACURA OF PASADENA

LEGEND 464

THE LUXURY SEDAN FOR THOSE WHO CONSIDER PERFORMANCE A NECESSITY.

The Acura Legend Sedan offers the acceleration, braking, handling and overall roadworthiness of a performance car. And the comfort, appointments and overall refinement of a luxury car. Not necessarily in that order.

Because when it came to designing the Legend Sedan, the highest priority was to create an automobile with a combination of performance and luxury that compromised neither.

That's why every Legend Sedan offers the smooth power of a 24-valve, fuel-injected V-6 engine. The precise handling of a front and rear fully independent, double wishbone suspension. An aerodynamic exterior and ergonomic interior. And a list of amenities like a leather-trimmed interior* and an Acura/Bose® Music System that just about anyone can be comfortable with.

The performance begins with a test drive.

AHS wins title

Arcadia High School's baseball team assured itself of a repeat Pacific League Championship with wins over Pasadena and Muir last week.

The Apaches lost the league opener to Pasadena but have defeated the Bulldogs in each of their last two encounters, last Tuesday by a score of 4-2.

Bob Richter led off the first inning with a single and scored on Mike Gerken's triple. Gerken went 3-for-4 and two RBI on the day.

Bubba Woodall's sixth inning, two-out single scored Arcadia's fourth run in the sixth inning as Travis Rogers pitched a complete game for the win.

On Friday, Arcadia defeated Muir 9-3, sweeping the series for the season.

Bob Richter tied a school record for number of triples with a third-inning three-bagger. He is tied at six with Mike Lincoln who set the record in 1983. It was pitcher Jon Graves who hit a bases loaded triple in the fourth inning. Graves allowed only one hit and no runs in five innings on the mound.

Jim Aiwasian hit two doubles for one RBI, and Gerken went 2-for-2 for one RBI in the win.

On Tuesday of this week, the Apaches faced Hoover and will host Crescenta Valley for the regular season finale on Friday, May 12 at 3:15 p.m. When they last met, CV defeated Arcadia 4-2.

Anaya scores on Miyaki bunt for La Salle win

Leo Anaya scored the winning run on Chris Miyaki's bunt in the sixth inning of Friday's 3-2 win for La Salle High School's baseball team. Anaya, who was 3-for-3 in the game, singled, and with one out, in a 2-2 tie, he advanced to second on a walk. Miyaki hit a safe bunt up the center, past the pitcher, and while Harvard was scrambling for the ball, Anaya scored never stopping as he rounded third.

Brian Esquival started the game, going six innings before Luis Solis went in to hold Harvard scoreless for the win.

Solis hit a sixth inning double in Wednesday's 11-2 loss to Notre Dame. Solis went on to score on Charlie Willalobos' two-RBI single for La Salle's only runs.

Currently in the San Fernando Valley League's second place with a 5-3 record, La Salle hopes to secure a playoff bid as the Lancers met Chaminade, the league's leader on Wednesday and will win up the regular season on Friday afternoon at St. Genevieve in Burbank.

Pablo Poloni was the winning pitcher.

With the Pacific League Championship on the line, Pasadena lost a 4-2 decision to Arcadia on Tuesday of last week.

Poloni led off the fifth inning with a double, scoring on Kevin Oliva's ground out. Then Kirk Comas singled and scored on a ground out by Tino Harris for the last PHS score.
